THE TRACK

The race starts at the upper station of the Lajnar chairlift, partly through the forest and partly through meadows. In the upper part, there is a short rocky section followed by a series of fast turns, where this year's track is designed to be more fluid and attractive than in previous years. Then we cross the ski slope, where some pedaling will be required, and after returning to the forest, there is a very fast section with several series of roots and two larger jumps. After exiting the forest, we cross the ski slope again, where some leg power will be required, followed by another short fast section through the forest and a sprint to the finish arena at the end of the Soriška planina ski slope.

Length: 1.650 m
Elevation drop: 280 m
